BERRY CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS

Is in Business along "Practical Lines."

STARTLING EXPOSURE

BORROWS OF STATE DEPOSITORY

William H. Berry, state treasurer, professional reformer, has been caught with the goods on him.

He has been found to be engaged in borrowing money from a depository of state funds for a private enterprise in which he is heavily interested. He had to admit this fact, but in trying to explain why he did it and how he did it, he lied, deliberately lied, and he was caught lying and the facts were proven against his misrepresentation by the records of Delaware county.

Mr. Berry, who is a sanctimonious, "holier than thou individual," who has been making all sorts of charges against Republican officials and who is now on the stump for Emery and his colleagues on the Democratic state ticket, has been shown to be as practical as the most practical of the professional politicians and he is, in the vernacular of the machine politician, "out for the stuff."

Berry is a member of the state board which designates the depositories of state funds and besides has in his power the right to draw from or add to any deposit in any banking institution which carries a deposit of state funds.

When Mr. Berry went into office as state treasurer, the Harrisburg Trust company carried a state deposit of about $200,000. Since Berry has been treasurer this sum has been jumped to over $600,000.

Berry at first applied to a Baltimore Surety company to go on his official bond, but he discovered that it would cost him about $2500 a year for a bond which would have eaten up a good portion of his salary. About this time negotiations were opened with the Harrisburg Trust company, which finally went on Berry's bond for $500,000 for a mere "nominal sum."

Good Thing For Trust Company.

The trust company does not appear to have lost anything by that operation.

Its deposits of state funds have grown to great proportions, and it has been honored by the state treasurer in the capacity of a customer in the loan department.

The Fields Brick company, of Chester, is a concern in which State Treasurer Berry is heavily interested.

The books show that the incorporators of the brick concern were William H. Berry, of Chester, 50 shares; Holstein H. Fields, 25 shares, and John W. Fields, 25 shares. William H. Berry appeared as treasurer. The charter indicated that Mr. Berry's interest was for cash invested, while that of the Fields brothers was for real estate, good will and personal property turned over to the corporation.

Mr. Berry makes these admissions:

"The Field boys had a brick yard in Chester, and were hard pressed for money. I agreed to take hold of the thing and put up $14,000 in cash against their property, and we formed a corporation with $50,000 capital, I taking 50 per cent. of the stock.

"I found when I came to look the plant over that a railroad siding was necessary. To get this siding put in it was necessary to buy a lot of land. I did not feel like investing in any more stock, but I was willing to buy some bonds. Others were willing to take bonds. So the $50,000 corporate mortgage was executed to the Harrisburg Trust Company as trustee of the bonds."

"How did you come to select the Harrisburg Trust Company in the transaction?"

"Well, that seems to me the only thing in this transaction that may seem peculiar. The fact is that I didn't want it to leak out that I was after land. That is the only reason I did not go to a Chester trust company. The Harrisburg Trust Company agreed to finance it, and I went ahead to get my options. We bought 30 acres of land, and we only intend to actually issue $30,000 in bonds. There will be an acre of land behind every bond."

Berry's attempted explanation that he went to Harrisburg to negotiate the loan so that the fact would not be known in Delaware county, and possibly raise the price of land which he desired to purchase, fell very flat when it was revealed that all of the details of the transaction were attended to by the Delaware County Trust Company and the recording fees were paid by it.

Why Berry should finance his deal from a Harrisburg state depository because he wanted to keep it secret, and then go to his own town and have the searches made and the deeds recorded, is something that puzzles officials in Delaware county.

Moreover, the records show that this Delaware County Trust Company is the holder of an original ironclad first mortgage for $16,000 on Fields' Bros.' brickyard.

If, as Berry says, there are 30 acres of ground behind the $30,000 in bonds which Berry says will be issued under the $50,000 mortgage, the records do not show it. They do show that the original yard of Field Bros, comprised eight acres. Against this is the $16,000 mortgage.

The other new purchase besides the five acres from Laidlaw, as shown by the records, is five acres from Evelyn Sibley. The total value of the land acquired since State Treasurer Berry turned the concern into a stock company and then placed his $50,000 mortgage, is $9750.

This is all the land holdings of "Berry's brickyard" that are disclosed by the books of the Recorder of Deeds' office in Delaware county.

Trust companies do not usually take $50,000 corporate mortgages on things not a matter of official record.

Skeptical as to Explanation.

Delaware county officials who were familiar with these facts were, therefore, skeptical as to the explanation as to why the State Treasurer chose the largest state depositor in Pennsylvania to finance this business venture. The news that this same trust company which Berry has favored his more than $600,000 in the general funds of the state was also a surprise to those who knew him as an ardent reformer. This surprise was not lessened by Berry's admission that for his bond for $500,000 he was only compelled to pay a nominal fee.

The usual fee of security companies for taking such a bond is $2500 a year.

It was not considered remarkable that the State Treasurer should look with kindly eye on the Harrisburg Trust Company.

Those who read of the transaction were startled when they recalled the strong demand for treasury reform in last Democratic platform and the vehement speeches which Berry and Homer Castle made concerning politicians who borrowed money from banks which hold state funds.

Although Berry's entry into brick making did not begin until after he became State Treasurer, his friends in Chester are confident that it will be a successful venture. Berry is known in his home town as a shrewd business man.

But what is causing no end of gossip, especially in "reform circles," is the fact that Berry should so soon after his election engage in transactions of a character which he and his associates have for years denounced.

"Old Timers" Put to Shame.

The fact is that he went further than any of his predecessors.

The reformers did not have an opportunity to criticise any state treasurer for borrowing from state depositories. There is no record of such a condition of affairs in the history of the state Treasury under Republican administration.

There have been criticisms from time to time of politicians supporting the party in power for borrowing from banking institutions having deposits of state funds.

When the Enterprise Bank failed in Allegheny it was Mr. Berry and his Democratic colleagues who went up and down the state frantically decrying a system which would permit politicians borrowing from banks carrying deposits of state funds.

But there never was a charge that a state treasurer was engaged in that line of business until Mr. Berry, "the reformer," was elected.

The state did not lose a dollar by the failure of the Enterprise Bank, which afforded so much political capital for Mr. Berry last fall, as every penny of state funds deposited in that bank has been paid back, with interest, into the state treasury.

The late Senator Quay, while having no connection with the state treasury, borrowed money from the People's Bank in Philadelphia upon approved collateral, such as any other citizen might do, but the Berrys and the Emery and the other "reformers" set up a hue and cry throughout the commonwealth, and painted him as a law breaker and an enimy of the people.

Mr. Berry, as State Treasurer, is now discovered to be a large borrower from an institution from which he can draw large sums of money any day, might cripple the trust company financially in case of a run, and yet he was chosen as a "reform" candidate for State Treasurer, and he is still nightly upon the stump demanding the election of a "reform candidate for Governor" in the person of that eminent "reformer," Lewis Emery, Jr., of Pure Oil fame, of "Brewery and Church" notoriety, and of other scandalous conditions that are now the subject of general criticism.

OUR CHOICE FOR CONGRESS

Captain Charles F. Barclay of Sinnamahoning.

A SKETCH OF HIS LIFE

A MAN WORTHY OF MUCH HONOR

Capt. Charles F. Barclay is the son of the late George A. Barclay, an honored member of the Legislature of Pennsylvania from 1885 to 1888 inclusive. Born in the state of New York at Owego, Tioga county, May 9th, 1844, and being brought by his parents the next year to the southern part of Potter county, Penna., he has been a citizen of the Keystone state for sixty-one years.

The first eighteen years of his life was spent in the wildest part of the wildest section of the state, about twelve miles from his present home at Sinnamahoning, excepting a few years spent at Painted Post and Coudersport, where the family lived to afford the children the advantage of schools.

His time, when old enough to work, was spent at labor at the magnificent compensation of $16.00 per month, the spare moments being used to qualify himself for teaching, in which occupation he was engaged in 1862, resigning his school to enlist in the war for the defense of his country.

His brother, George B., four years his senior, having enlisted in 1861, Charles F. followed him the next year, and enlisted as a private in Company "K" 149th, Penna. Volunteers, otherwise known as "The Second Bucktails."

Suffering from a slight physical disability, by an astute piece of generalship, as innocent as it was shrewd, he avoided inspection and thus escaped being sent home. In this case the end justified the means, as he never spent a day in hospital, except while in prison, and lost only half a day by reason of sickness while in the service.

His army career was conspicuous as was evidenced by his rapid rise. He was made a Sergeant, and on the battlefield at Chancellorsville in 1863, he received his commission as Second Lieutenant. Was promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant April 5th, 1864, and reached the Captaincy May 16th, 1865.

He was captured at Gettysburg on the first day of that memorable battle, and taken to Libby prison at Richmond, Va. From Libby he was taken to Danville, thence to Macon, from there to Savannah, and from the last named place to Charleston. From a camp about two miles distant from Columbia, whither he had been removed from Charleston, with two others he escaped by walking across the "dead line" and the "guard line" to the woods. His liberty was of short duration, as he was recaptured and returned to prison, a very fortunate circumstance, as on December 8th, 1864, his name was called for exchange, and he was paroled. On the 10th, he with others was transferred from a rebel to a United States vessel in Charleston harbor, thus ending an imprisonment of seventeen months and eleven days, during which period he suffered hardships beyond the ability of words to describe. What with the scurvy, gangrene, diphtheria and vermin, to say nothing of the lack of food and nursing, it is a miracle that he escaped alive.

After release from prison, he was assigned such duty as is expected of paroled officers awaiting exchange, but the war closed before the exchange came, and at Harrisburg, June 24th, 1866, he was mustered out of service.

Having been in the war between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one, he was of necessity deprived of any further school advantages, and feeling the need of additional culture, entered the school at Belfast, N. Y. After a short stay there, he entered the University of Michigan, taking up the study of law. He did not, however, take up the practice of law but, having entered into a partnership with his brother at Sinnamahoning, in the lumber and mercantile business, he gave his time and energies to these enterprises.

By a diligent application of all his powers, working with his men in all kinds of weather, and at all kinds of work incident to the lumbering business, for a period of twenty-five years without a vacation, fighting an up-hill struggle against panic, fire and flood, he came in 1900 to realize the first dividends of trade.

Was Presidential Elector 1892. Was Alternate Delegate at Large to the National Republican Convention 1900.

The past six years have been devoted to his increasing business, and growing enterprises in this and other states are eloquent testimonials to his sagacity and business tact.

Captain Barclay, though sixty-two years of age, is possessed of all his faculties unimpaired, is as active as a man in his prime, and lives in comfort in his beautiful home by the Sinnamahoning creek, respected and trusted by all who know him.—Cameron County Press

Rev. Dr. Colfelt Resigns.

The resignation of Rev. Lawrence M. Colfelt pastor of the Oxford Presbyterian church, at Broad and Oxford streets, Phildelphia, were read to the congregation at the morning and evening services Sunday, which comes as a surprise to numerous members of the church and to Presbyterians generally. Dr. Colfelt being one of the leading clergymen of that denomination in that city.

Dr. Colfelt has long entertained a conviction that a minister should retire from his work while he is still at his best, and before the decline of old age unfits him for the active duties of his pastorate. He is still in fifties and is still a vigorous speaker. He is not dependent upon his ministerial work for his living, but has independent means. He owns a newspaper at Bedford Springs, the Pennsylvania Hawkeye, and will devote more time hereafter to editing this periodical.

Law on Sign Boards.

Judge Heydt, of Carbon county, lectured the constables on sign boards recently in court. He said: "The law requires township supervisors to erect signboards, which implies that they must be kept in good condition. It is the duty of constables to see that supervisors observe the law and to report to court any dereliction, as the court can reach the supervisors only through such reports. Supervisors are not requested to pass a civil service examination, and a high degree of literary attainment may not be necessary to make good roads. Correct spelling and approximate accuracy as to distance, however, should be the absolute rule in making and placing signboards. The supervisors have the right to expend the public money in this connection, and they should make all boards approximately correct. Correct spelling reflects the intelligence of the community, and criticism is invited when words are incorrectly spelled, emphasized and punctuated. If supervisors have doubts about the correctness of any sign, they may use the public funds to obtain any information necessary, or they may consult an attorney, who would doubtless include proper spelling in advice given. Signboards are required by law, and are great help to the traveling public, and the court respectfully suggests that these be constructed of white or black ground, with opposite colored letters of sufficient size to be easily read without dismounting from automobiles or carriages."

Renovo Hunters Shoot a Deer.

Renovo News: The first successful deer hunters of the season are Messrs. Clyde Dechant, Shank and Haas. They were up Hall's Run and between them they succeeded in bagging a 150 pound bruin. This gamey feat was performed last Wednesday and the animal was brought to town that evening. Game of all descriptions is reported quite plentiful all through Clinton and adjoining counties.

MEETING AT STATE COLLEGE

Of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

NOW IN SESSION

THE OPENING PROCEEDINGS IN FULL

State College, Oct. 16th.—Tuesday morning marked the opening session of the eleventh annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania women, held in the new auditorium.

The meeting is being held here at the invitation of the local Women's Club. The President of the Federation, Miss Kate C. McKnight, of Allegheny, was able to be present at the opening session.

Other officers are prominent are Mrs. Ida M. Houghton, of Bradford; Miss Mira L. Dock, of Harrisburg, and Mrs. Isaac H. Rhoads, of Lansdowne, vice-presidents of the Western, Central and Eastern districts of the State; Miss Mary K. Garvin, of Philadelphia, secretary; Mrs. Wilbur F. Litch, of Ardmore, tressurer; Mrs. Edward W. Biddle, of Carlisle, general federation secretary.

A preliminary session was held Monday evening, when the delegates were received by the local club. The real work of the convention however, began at 9.30 o'clock Tuesday morning with Vice-President Houghton, in the chair. The invocation was by Dr. Benjamin Gill of the College, and the addresses of welcome by Mrs. E. Reber, on behalf of Mrs. George W. Atherton, president of the local club, who is ill, and Dr. Judson P. Welsh, vice president of the college.

Mrs. Houghton responded briefly, after which the routine work of receiving reports was taken up. The secretary reported that twenty new clubs have been received into the Federation during the year, a fact which indicates a health growth of the organization.

The reports of other officers show that many kinds of work is being engaged in by the various clubs—everything, in fact, from establishing schools to tree planting and street sprinkling.

Tuesday afternoon all of the delegates made a tour of inspection of the college grounds. Much interest was shown in the Dairy Building, partially constructed, for the completion of which the trustees are awaiting favorable action of the next session of the Legislature. But little time was needed for the inspection of the Woman's department, since out of 900 students, there are only a dozen girls. A change is expected in the near future, however. It is believed that State College will become co-educational in fact as well as in name.

FIRE AT MATTERNVILLE.

Post Office and Store Robbed and Then Burned.

On Monday morning between the hours of three and four o'clock the little village of Matternville, Centre County, three miles from Waddle's station was the scene of a most dastardly outrage. The store of J. Linn Mattern, in which building is the post office, was robbed and the building fired and burned to the ground thus covering all traces of the robbers.

Mr. Mattern awoke Monday morning about 3 o'clock, and saw fire pouring from the windows of his storeroom. He was the first man on the scene, and, when he got there, found that the rear door of the store had been broken open, and was wide open.

There were other traces of robbers, but the interior of the storeroom was a seething mass of flames, so that an investigation was impossible. All that was saved was the mailbag key Mr. Matter secured through a rear window.

Out in the orchard back of the store building several packages of smoking tobacco were found which the robbers dropped in their flight.

Mr. Mattern places his loss at $2,000 of which $1,000 is on the goods and $1000 on building. He had $850.00 insurance on his goods and $300 on the building.

The robbers failed to secure the money, and stamps belonging to the Post Office as they were in a safe in his house and were untouched.

This is the third post office robbery in this county in ten days and postmasters are becoming much alarmed.

Mrs. Margaret Diehl.

Margaret Diehl, the wife of Conrad Diehl, died at the home of her son-in-law, Harry Rockey, near Jacksonville. Her death was due to paralysis, and for several weeks prior to her death she was confined to her bed. She is survived by the following children: Samuel, Joseph, John and Mrs. Katherine Greninger, of Howard; William and Daniel, of Nittany, and Mrs. Harry Rockey, of Mackeyville.

Easy to Win Eight Husbands.

Mrs. Mary Lappage, who is happily married after eight trials of husbands, most of them unsuccessful, tells a remarkable story of how she won the eight, how she lost seven of them and how she comes to be happy with the eighth in next Sunday's World. Order early for the number is of quite unusual interst.

BERRY'S STORY OF CAPITOL BUILDING

Pennsylvania State Treasurer Alleges Gross Extravagance.

CRITICIZES THE CONTRACTS

Bronze Chandeliers, Weighing 4000 Pounds, Cost $5 Per Pound—Pointedly Criticizes "Furniture" As Bought and Paid For By Board of Public Buildings and Grounds.

Bellefonte, Pa., Oct. 11.—The reform meeting here was well attended considering the inclement weather. Colonel J. L. Spangler presided and introduced Emery as the first speaker. Mr. Emery confined himself entirely to the assumption of legislative power by the governor, referring especially to the way in which appropriations to the charitable institutions of the state were cut down and $9,000,000 paid for furnishings of the new capitol. Emery was followed with brief speeches by Creasy and Black, after which State Treasurer Berry was introduced, and for the first time told the public in detail of the alleged extravagant expenditure of money in connection with finishing the capitol building. He said in part:

There has existed for many years in Pennsylvania a thoroughly organized system of exploitation, consisting of predatory corporations on the one hand and a band of corrupt and venal politicians on the other, which has maintained its supremacy by ingenuously appealing to the political prejudice of the virtuous citizens of the state and buying the purchaseable rif-raff who maintain the dens of vice and crime in the large cities, and use them as a haven for repeaters to poll the phantom vote.

So drastic was the lesson administered last fall by the people that our genial governor, who during the campaign declared that "there were no ills in Pennsylvania that needed correction," called an extra session of the legislature to correct the ills that did not exist, and with fear and trembling the legislature passed a series of long demanded laws which the gang candidates are pointing to with pride and citing as a reason for their election, when as a matter of fact the presence of these laws on the statute books and the necessity for their enforcement is a conclusive reason why these men should not be elected.

A splendid sentiment of civic virtue has been aroused, a goodly crop is sown, an earnest of the fruit is ours; but if we are to reap the real harvest we need new hands in the fields and I am certain that unless the people have lost all sense of wisdom and justice, the entire fusion ticket will be elected this fall.

"Not a Laughing Matter."

As an illustration of the way in which men whose [illegible] could be cited in question, are lead along in questionable dealings, I will tell you a story. It is by no means a laughing matter, yet it is a "Capitol" story. I have been accused of injecting it into the campaign for political effect, and in fact it was so injected, but we did not do it. Pursuant to a carefully and elaborately devised plan the dedicatory ceremonies on October 4th were arranged to deceive the people of the state, by parading the splendid and luxuriously furnished capitol building as having been built for less than $4,000,000, and thus by an unparalleled example of honest and economical public work, to re-establish the Gang, the machine and the system in the confidence of the people.

$90,000 For Parquet Floor.

They had well nigh succeeded and would have had no trouble whatever had Mr. Plummer been elected state treasurer. No whisper of anything to the contrary would have been heard. Among the first duties of the new treasurer was to pass upon the bids submitted upon the published schedule for "supplies" for the board of public grounds and buildings of which he is a member. Being entirely unfamiliar with the details of the subject, there was but one item that attracted his attention, and that was for "the best parquetry flooring," and the only bid was at 90 cents per foot; no quantity was specified, but an objection was immediately made to the price. He was assured that the material was of a special interlocking type, and the impression given that the floor was an alternating rubber and wood blocks, and reluctantly signed the contract. Some weeks afterward a force of men appeared with a car-load of tongued and grooved oak blocks and a barrel of glue; they worked about three weeks putting down this floor, and the contractor rendered a bill for $90,000. This opened the eyes of the treasurer, but finding that a contract had been made, the bill was paid. This was manifestly a part of the capitol building and an investigation of the law revealed the fact that the board was prohibited from spending money on the capitol building. A further investigation showed that several millions of dollars had been spent in the same way, and we thought it our duty to enlighten the public as to what was going on. We did this as soon as we were certain of our ground. We have asked the opinion of the attorney general on the matter, and will decline to pay any more bills of that kind.

Contract For Wood Floors Waived.

The item of wood floors was in the original contract, but was waived on a consideration of $7100, and this floor substituted at a cost of $167,530, paid by the board of public grounds and buildings. The extent to which this system has been carried on in defiance of law is revealed by the following table of items taken from the statement of the governor and the auditor general, every item of which is specified in whole or in part in the original contract:

Modeling and sculpture with patterns, $137,600; wainscoting (wood), $889,940; wainscoting, (marble), $278,169.47; decorating (colors, gold and aluminum), $779,472.96; glass, mosaic, $28,759.20; floors (wood and cement), $160,430; bronze lamp standards, $436,950.40; vaults and safes, $66,000; completing lighting system, $71,600; duplex telephone system, $17,666; thermostatic valves and thermostats, $47,408.

In addition to this $393,693 was paid for fitting up an entire floor, making a total of $3,236,121 spent by the board of grounds and buildings, as I believe in defiance of the plain mandate of the law.

At the last meeting of the board we asked for an explanation of this, and the further fact that certain marble and mosaic decorations, specified on pages 59 and 60 in the Payne & Co. contract, as follows:

"The walls back of the rostrums of the president pro tem. of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives in the senate and house of representatives, where indicated and marked G. M. shall be of polished serpentine marble as specified for wainscotings of senate and house, inlaid with favrile glass mosaic, securely and permanently set with Keene's cement; every part shall fit accurately and follow the lines of the designs and all joints on completion of the work to be rubbed down in color to harmonize with adjacent tones of decorations," had not been done at all. We received no reply, except that it was a legal question that they did not care to discuss. Payne & Co. have evidently been paid for this work, and we want to know who is to do it, or if it is to be done at all.

$2,000,000 Overcharge.

The second count in the indictment is that $4,562,252 have been spent for "furnishings" in accordance with the letter of the law, in which at least $2,000,000 is overcharge. The items include chandeliers, brackets, cut glass panels, bronze decorations, filing cases and furniture.

A proportionate overcharge is probable in the other $4,000,000 of expenditures, but nothing short of a rigid investigation by experts, empowered to subpoena witnesses, will reveal the whole truth.

A committee of three editors, however wisely selected, can hardly be expected to render a final verdict. I wonder why the governor did not call a larger committee of editors?

Took Care of Favored Contractors.

The methods by which certain contractors like the Pennsylvania Construction company, which have no plant, or visible means of doing any work at all, could secure a contract that would net them upwards of $500,000, is revealed when we examine the "schedule" upon which the bids were received.

The first 21 items and several others ask for a price per fixture, while others for similar "designed" fixtures and furniture ask for bids "per foot" and "per pound."

I cannot undertake to analyze each item, but most of the contracts were let by the foot or by the pound, and to illustrate the method let us consider item 32.

Bronze at $5 a Pound.

A special design was made for a chandelier; the bidder would estimate what he could make it for at a profit, as such things are ordinarily made, and suppose his figure was $200. He would then estimate the weight of it, as such things are ordinarily made, only to find that it would weigh say 30 pounds; but the maximum price is $5 per pound, and of course he cannot bid; but the contractor who is wise to the scheme can take it, because he knows that instead of the usual 1-16 or 1-8 of thickness of metal, he can make it 1-2 or 1 or a foot thick, if necessary, and make it weigh 200 pounds, and thus get $1000 for it.

Chandeliers at $20,000 Each.

This is the way this contract was let, and some of the chandeliers were made to weigh as high as 4000 pounds and costing more than $20,000 each.

More than 300,000 pounds of bronze was put into these chandeliers, costing the maker 30 cents per pound, or $90,000. The work upon them cost say twice as much more, making $270,000, and sold to the state for $1,800,000, showing an overcharge of at least $1,000,000 in this one item. The glass globes and panels were extra and cost $138,757.09.

Every item on this schedule is open to the same criticism, and the estimate I have made of the total overcharge is extremely conservative.

We have a splendid capitol. I am not an artist, and cannot fully appreciate its beauty, but I am a mechanic, and know a good job when I see it. I have not seen a single example of poor work about the building; even the carpets are superior. I did not get on my knees to examine them, but in company with one of the largest carpet manufacturers in Philadelphia I looked them over, and found them in keeping with the general excellence of the other work. But, gentlemen, a carpet or a capitol may be very fine, and yet have woven into every fibre of its structure the figures of graft and corruption by the people who build it. Just so a state. And grand and glorious as is our commonwealth, she has been permeated from center to circumference with graft and corruption by those who have figured largely in the recent history. This whole matter needs to be investigated.

CHAMPIONS CROSS BATS

Chicago Americans Win First Game in the World's Series.

Chicago, Oct. 10. — The Chicago team of the American League won from the National League pennant winners by a score of 2 to 1 in the first game of the world's championship series.

The game furnished a fine sample of modern base ball wherein the fine points of the game are more in evidence than the slugging of other days, but it was an error of puerile character which gave the American League team its winning margin. And that error also is the reason that the supporters of the winning team, erstwhile demanding odds in betting, are willing to take even money on the series. The score by innings:

USED BORIC ACID IN HAMS

Warrants Issued For Philadelphia Managers of "Beef Trust."

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—Warrants were sworn out by Dr. B. H. Warren, dairy and food commissioner, for the arrest of the Philadelphia managers of Armour & Co., one of the members of the so-called "beef trust," charging the firm with the illegal use of boric acid in hams. Samples purchased at the branch houses of Armour & Co. were analyzed by Professor Lawall, chemist of the department, and show, it is alleged, that the hams have been "doctored" with boric acid in quantities ranging from one-fourth to one-half of one per cent. It is said that subpoenas will be issued for the heads of the firm of Armour & Co. in Chicago, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the "doctoring" of the meat is performed in Chicago or this city.

DENY BERRY'S CHARGES

Officers of Pennsylvania Construction Company Issue Statement.

MADE NO ILLEGAL CONTRACT

They Supplied Metallic Furniture For New Pennsylvania Capitol. Claim Company Was Not Formed By Politicians.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—In reply to the charges made by State Treasurer Berry and certain newspapers concerning the contracts of the Pennsylvania Construction company, of Marietta, Pa., with the Pennsylvania commissioners of public grounds and buildings in the supply of metallic furniture for the various offices in the new state capitol, the following statement is submitted by the company, through its secretary, E. B. Reinhold:

"The alleged statement of State Treasurer Berry that W. W. Griest, of Lancaster, or T. Larry Eyre, of West Chester, has, or ever had, any interest in or relation to this company, is an absolute falsehood. Equally and malicoously false is any statement to the direct or indirect effect that this company, or its success or in business, or any officer, partner, member or stockholder in either of them has profited a penny by any illegal contract with the state; or, that any supplies were furnished by it or them except in accordance with legal contracts, duly made, after proposals submitted, fair bids and honest awards thereunder. The facts relating to this company and to its organization and business management and methods and its contracts with the commonwealth are well known and can be easily verified. They stamp as absolutely false Mr. Berry's other allegation that the company was formed by politicians 'after they had gotten the contract and an advance payment by the state.'

"As to the insinuations or charges that no responsible manufacturing concern was behind these contracts it needs only to be said that the Jamestown, N. Y., Art Metal Construction company in its factory employs 1100 men, and the very nature of the business requires skillful mechanics. Over 75 per cent. of the finest banking institutions and public buildings in the United States have been equipped by this factory. There are no factories in Europe engaged in this business, and considerable of the furniture made at Jamestown goes to London and Paris. When the contract was let for the state capitol this was the only company equipped to undertake the manufacture and completion of the work in the required time.

"The Pennsylvania Construction company, after being in business as a partnership, for 12 years, was incorporated May 18, 1905, under the corporate name 'Penn Construction company'—the firm name having already been appropriated by another corporation. Its only stockholders are the same persons who composed the firm—each having an equal interest—E. L. Reinhold, president; E. B. Reinhold, secretary, and H. Burd Cassel, treasurer. The contracts of the commonwealth were entirely with the partnership; they have been supervised by ex-Attorney General Hensel, who has been for years solicitor of both the firm and its incorporated successor. It cannot be shown that in any respect they were unauthorized, illegal, secured by improper means or misconstrued for improper purposes. Any allegation to the contrary is a malicious falsehood, and any reputable party uttering it will be duly challenged to make good his assertion."

General Mills Reports It Has Entirely Disappeared.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Hazing has disappeared at the United States military academy at West Point, according to the annual report of the superintendent, Brigadier General A. L. Mills, which was made public. The report says:

"Hazing has been entirely absent, and the spirit which in former years prompted it has in a great measure disappeared. The attitude of all the upper classes toward the fourth class is good generally, and the members of the first class in particular have shown due appreciation of their responsibilities in maintaining proper relations between old and new cadets. First classmen exclusively were detailed to act as instructors of cadets during their preliminary training. The good effects of this policy were evident."

He is charged with having passed two bogus checks for more than $2000 upon G. Kohner, of Brooklyn. The arrest was made by Detective John Vausts, of New York, and a local detective. The little fellow was found wandering about the streets at the Brooklyn end of the Brooklyn bridge and taken to the rooms of the Children's society, where he was identified. The police believe that the kidnappers released the boy from captivity after finding that his parents were not able to pay the ransom demanded. The boy himself is not able to tell the police anything at all that will assist them in unraveling the mystery of his whereabouts from September 22, when he disappeared, until he was picked up.

CARSON WANTS INFORMATION

Attorney General Answers Pennsylvania Treasurer On Capitol Scandal.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 11.—Attorney General Carson addressed a letter to State Treasurer Berry in reply to the latter's request for an opinion as to the legality of the action of the board of grounds and buildings in expending nearly $9,000,000 on furnishing and equipping the new state capitol. Berry also stated in his letter to the attorney general that the board expended $2,500,000 for work that was specified as part of the building, either in duplication or in addition to the work specified.

Carson says in his reply that he cannot judge of the actual or alleged existence of duplications and additions without being furnished with a copy of the original contract and without knowing from the architect exactly where, as a matter of fact, the work of the capitol commission ended and the board of grounds and buildings began.

He suggests that the way to arrive at a knowledge of the facts is to have a tabulated statement prepared of what was actually embraced under the various heads in the original contract, what was furnished under that contract, and how much was paid by the capitol commission for the same. Carson asks to be informed also from the books of the treasury when the various payments were made by the board, the names of the parties to whom warrants were issued and the amounts of the various warrants.

He also requests information as to the circumstances under which certain payments were made for work for the capitol, so that he can better judge and advise the treasurer whether the authority under which they were made was legal.

In conclusion the attorney general says: "If you are in the possession of any evidence whatever of fraud, dishonesty, graft, excessive charges, unperfect material, surreptitious substitution of inferior goods for that called for by the specifications, you will oblige me by communicating it to me at once, and I will take appropriate action."

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

SUSPECTED BROUWER

REFUSED TO GIVE IT TO HER

Miss Lippincott, Told It Was Morphia, Read "Strychnine" On Label of Doctor's Dose—Another Nurse Told of Bitter Taste of Milk.

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 11. — The direct testimony of two of the state's witnesses at the trial of Dr. Frank Brouwer for the murder of his wife was attacked in the cross-examination of counsel for the defense. Miss Una Dudley, one of the nurses who attended Mrs. Brouwer, testified that the sick woman had complained of the bitter taste of the peptonized milk prepared for her by the defendant. Attorney Wilson, of counsel for the defense, drew from the witness the statement that she was aware when she testified that the peptonized powders often had a bitter taste when they were allowed to stand for a considerable time.

Miss May Lippincott, who also cared for Mrs. Brouwer in the capacity of nurse, testified that she had seen Dr. Brouwer take two powders from a section of his medicine case in which he was accustomed to keep strychnine powder and prepare a hypoderm which he asked her to administer to his wife. This, the witness said, she had declined to do.

In her testimony Miss Lippincott said:

"I saw Dr. Brouwer take a tablet from his medicine chest to prepare a hypodermic injection for his wife. He said it was a morphia tablet, but the bottle from which he got it was labeled strychnine. A terror seized me, and the next injection he prepared I did not use. I squirted it instead under the bed cothing. I was sure he was trying to kill her."

"What made you think that Dr. Brouwer took a strychnine tablet from the medicine case for that first hypodermic injection instead of a morphine tablet?" asked Mr. McDermott, counsel for the defense.

"Because I saw the label on the bottle, and I was sure it was strychnine," said the witness.

"And you suspected that he was poisoning his wife?"

"I did. I was terrified, and I gave no more injections that Dr. Brouwer prepared."

On further cross-examination Miss Lippincott said she could not swear that the tablets were taken from the strychnine section of Dr. Brouwer's medicine case.

Dr. H. H. Cate, who signed the death certificate ascribing Mrs. Brouwer's death to acute Bright's disease, denied emphatically that he and Dr. Brouwer had acted in collusion in connection with the certificate and said that the defendant did not even know that the witness had made out a certificate until it was handed to him.

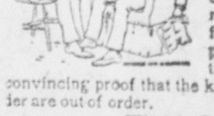
Dr. Cate described the convulsions experienced by Mrs. Brouwer. He testified that Dr. Brouwer had told him on two different occasions that 50 per cent. of albumen had been found and that Dr. McLean Forman had declared that Mrs. Brouwer had Bright's disease.

"Upon that information," said Dr. Cate, "which I received solely from Dr. Brouwer, and together with some symptoms which were displayed by Mrs. Brouwer, I signed the death certificate, giving that as the cause of death."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen, it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.



What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

VICE PRESIDENT'S SON ELOPES

Frederick Fairbanks Marries Nellie Scott, of Pittsburg.

Steubenville, O., Oct. 12—Announcement is made here that Frederick Cole Fairbanks, son of the vice president of the United States, eloped from Pittsburg with Nellie Scott, and coming here, were married. It is stated that the vice president objected to the marriage.

The bride is a daughter of a prominent East Side resident of Pittsburg.

The marriage is the result of a romantic courtship of less than a year's duration. When Miss Scott returned home about a month ago from visiting relatives in Indiana it was the understanding among intimate friends that the engagement of the couple would be announced early in October and the marriage take place in November. The young couple have been in telephonic communication with the Scott household, and it is learned that they will reach Pittsburg to remain a day or two before starting on their honeymoon trip, which it is said will be a tour of Europe.

BROUWERS QUARRELED

A BAD DAY FOR THE DEFENSE

Particulars of Family Rows Were Brought Out With Talk of Divorce. Judge Warns Jury Against Talking of Case.

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 12. — That there had been quarrels between Dr. Frank Brouwer and his wife and that Dr. Brouwer had said that he intended to sue for a divorce, was the testimony given by Miss Elizabeth Hyer, sister of the woman for whose alleged murder the doctor is on trial.

Miss Hyer said that her brother-in-law had told her that incompatibility of temper made it impossible for him and his wife to live happily together and that he purposed to seek a divorce. According to Miss Hyer, this was said by the doctor more than four years ago.

Surrogate Grovan, of Ocean county, testified that the defendant filed an affidavit before him on December 29 last, in which it was stated that Mrs. Bronwer's estate was valued at $6000, and that Dr. Brouwer and his two children were the beneficiaries. The placing of the surrogate on the stand was regarded as an attempt on the part of the prosecution to establish a motive for the alleged crime.

Dr. Walter S. Washington, of Newark, an expert, on direct examination, was asked to give his opinion on the cause of Mrs. Brouwer's death, basing the opinion on the testimony thus far adduced at the trial, but the defense objected to the question and the court sustained the objection. A hypothetical question covering the points of the testimony probably will be submitted to him.

Benjamin Hyer, a brother of Mrs. Brouwer, told of a specific instance in which she had run to him for protection, saying that her husband had struck her.

Dr. George T. Crook, a local dentist related a conversation in which Mrs. Brouwer accused her husband of deceiving her in regard to money which she had given him. He said he had rendered Dr. Brouwer a bill of $7 for services. Some time later, while calling at their house, he said, the subject of the bill came up.

"I asked Mrs. Brouwer what she understood my bill to be," said Dr. Crook. "She said $17. I replied, 'That is wrong; it is only $7.' She turned to her husband and said, 'That is the first time I have ever caught you in such deceptions. Now, I want you to return me the rest of that money."

It was a day on the whole very damaging to the defense, though no testimony was produced to show that the accused physician had ever threatened to do away with his wife. The efforts of the state's attorneys to bring out the particulars and causes of the family rows were fought at every step by counsel for the defendant, who tried to belittle such evidence as showing any motive for the crime of murder. Prosecutor Brown's introduction of testimony regarding the financial straits of Dr. Brouwer previous to his wife's death met with especially bitter opposition from the defense.

Just before adjournment was taken for the day Judge Hendrickson caused surprise when he ordered the jury to stand up and declared that he had heard they had been talking to persons in the streets about the case. He said that if he heard of any such action again on the part of the jury he would order an investigation with a view of having the guilty persons punished.

Burglars Clean Out a Store.

Allentown, Pa., Oct. 12.—The safe in the general store of E. E. Long at Egypt, nine miles from here, was blown open by burglars and more than $300 in cash and stamps were taken. The post office is in the same store and the safe was used by the postmaster. Long's deeds, insurance papers, cash book and valuable documents were also stolen.

Bought Sweetheart Poison.

Deshler, O., Oct. 12.—Orsen Broka, a farmer, has been arrested on a charge of murdering his sweetheart, Jennie Dicker. The girl took poison a week ago and died five days later. It is alleged that Broka bought arsenic for the girl, with the knowledge that she would attempt self-destruction. The parents of the couple objected to their marrying.

Turkey Must Pay Debts.

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—John G. A. Leishman's first action as United States ambassador was to refuse to allow an application for increased customs on American goods until all the outstanding American claims against Turkey have been satisfied.

LOOKS BAD FOR SCHOOLEY

Experts Testify In Contest For Crawford Millions.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 13. — Another sensation in the Crawford will case developed when it was shown by Dr. John T. Downing that J. L. Crawford was in Scranton on December 16, 1904, whereas a letter presumed to have been written by Mr. Crawford in New York to G. B. Schooley, the contestant, bears the same date. This is the letter in which Crawford is alleged to have told Schooley that he is going to leave him most of his property.

Handwriting Expert Carvalho was on the stand before Dr. Downing and testified that the new will and the codicil were forged.

It was also shown by Lester Joel, correspondence clerk of the Vulcan Iron Works, of Wilkes-Barre, that the stationery of the People's Coal company was Scotch linen. Joel produced a large number of letters from the files of the iron works which had been received from the People's Coal company from 1899 down to the present date. Not one of the letters is on the kind of paper on which the new will and codicil were written.

SHIP OFFICERS WIN STRIKE

Baltimore Tie-Up Ends When Demands Are Granted.

Baltimore, Oct. 13.—The tie-up of the steamboats of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic and the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia Railway companies, owing to which the commerce of the sections of this and adjoining states served by these lines has been nearly at a standstill since Monday of last week, was brought to an end as a result of a lengthy conference between Captain Willard Thomson, general manager of the steamboat lines, and a committee of the captains who had resigned with a view to enforcing their demands for increased pay for the licensed deck officers of the steamboats of the lines named. With some slight modification the scale of pay asked for was granted, and the demand hitherto made by General Manager Thomson that the captains withdraw from the Association of Masters, Mates and Pilots, was not urged. The regular schedule trips of the boats tied up will be resumed at once.

MANY ILLEGAL BURIALS

Maryland Board of Health Issues Warrants For Twenty Persons.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 13.—Investigations by officials of the state board of health, extending over some months, culminated in the issuance of warrants for the arrest of 20 residents of Baltimore county, whose names are withheld, on the charge of burying bodies without a permit and omitting to make any record of the burials. Presumably the bodies were those of papers or unknown persons. At Highlandtown, an eastern suburb, it is said that 22 bodies were found buried in a spot not far from a row of saloons and gambling houses. The interments, according to Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the state board of health, were made secretly and at night, and in the rudest fashion. The bodies were often insufficiently covered, and occasionally became exposed and created a nuisance. Altogether more than 40 cases of illegal burial have been discovered in Baltimore county, it is alleged.

FOUGHT TO KILL HIMSELF

Swallows Poison While Struggling With Wife and Step-Daughter.

New York, Oct. 13. — Dr. Eugene Van Ness committed suicide by swallowing poison at his laboratory, on West 31st street, while his wife and step-daughter struggled with him in an effort to snatch the bottle containing the poison from the physician's hand. According to the police, Dr. Van Ness' wife and step-daughter had gone to his laboratory and were endeavoring to persuade him to go home with them, when the physician suddenly ran to a closet, procured a bottle of poison and swallowed the contents, in spite of the efforts of the two women to take it from him. Mrs. Van Ness told the police that her husband had recently had heavy financial losses.

Big Lockout Threatened.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—A lockout of 50,000 building trades employes is threatened as the result of numerous sympathetic strikes on various buildings now being erected in the down-town district. At a conference between union representatives and several contractors no solution of the difficulties was reached, and at the close the contractors issued an ultimatum which was in effect: "Return to work or stay away forever."

Prominent Dentist Drowned.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 13. — Dr. R. H. Pierce, a prominent dentist of this city, while hunting, was drowned in Pike lake. Dr. Pierce two years ago was chosen grand senior sagamore of the Improved Order of Red Men of the United States.

The Big Centre County Fair.

Wednesday forenoon the A. M. Brown scrub team of Pennsylvania Furnace defeated the Pine Grove Mills team in a championship base ball game by the score of 11-2. Fully five thousand people attended the Centre County Fair Thursday and fully that many more were kept at home by the intensely cold weather which was almost down to the freezing point all day, not with-standing the cold the big crowd present shivered and stamped, but spent the full day taking in the big line of exhibits doing the various shows on the pike and watching the races.

Thursday morning there was a very interesting game of base ball played between Snow Shoe and Hecla Park. Snow Shoe winning by the score of 9 to 2.

Of course the racing is the big feature. The track was in better condition and better time was made than Wednesday. There were six starters in each of the events, the summaries of which follows:

Bride Didn't Know She Was Wed.

Asserting she was married Monday without her knowledge, to Benjamin Nickle, Miss Millie Baltuno of Wilkes-Barre, Tuesday appealed to Alderman Frank Brown to extricate her from her predicament.

She was engaged to Nickle, but opposed a speedy marriage. He induced her to go with him and get a marriage license. When he took her before alderman Masterson, and the marriage ceremony was performed, she believed it to be merely a preliminary measure, she said.

She did not realize what had happened until Monday night, when Nickel claimed her as his wife. Her father refused to allow him to take her away from her home, and he appeared with her and requested Alderman Brown to grant a divorce.

The Alderman is investigating the case.

Public Art in the Country.

The farmer needs to be trained to appreciate the value of pleasant house surrounding. His house grounds should be well kept: his barns should be devoid of advertisements, and he should manfully resist the persuasions of the advertising man who would paint signs on the rocks or stand them up in the meadows facing the railroads. These things are commonplace enough in themselves, and yet if no more was done than improve these matters, the country would be a pleasanter place to visit and to travel through. The country does not need monuments, it does not require costly works of art, it does not call for the things the city demands as a matter of course, its needs are its own, but they are quite as urgent as any of the matters which appear so essential in the cities; its claims to artistic consideration are important.

Convalescent Faints at Sight of Fiancee.

Excitement of seeing his fiance, after being in the Pottstown Hospital several months, proved too much for the weakened constitution of George Lightcap, and while calling at her home Monday evening he suddenly dropped over, to all appearances, dead.

The young woman, Miss Ella McClafferty, summoned a physician.

Several months ago Lightcap fell from a high telephone pole, on which he was working, and suffered a fractured skull. Just discharged for the hospital, the excitement and undue exertion of going calling brought on an attack of vertigo.

Bad Season for Turkeys.

That the wet season and cold nights have wrought great damage among the flocks of young turkeys is shown by reports received by the State Department of Agriculture.

The losses have been so heavy as to seriously deplete the Thanksgiving supply and a turkeyless holiday may result for many people. One man reports the loss of all but 27 of 122 young birds.

TWO FORMS OF HONESTY.

There is an end to everything except that which is honest, and if demagoguery is dishonest the sooner it ends the better. Governor Pennypacker calls upon the sunlight to stay upon the Capitol dome and go down throughout the building and its furnishings, so as to convince the people where honest dare invite investigation. There are two forms of dishonesty, one is to steal public or private money, the other is to rob worthy men of their reputations. The thief goes to the county jail, the demagogue gets an office, and at once aspires to another The other will never come after October 17th, when facts should be known. Governor Pennypacker, for this invitation to know enemies, yet of high reputation and ability, to investigate as to every fact, and to give them notice a week in advance. Demegoguery will die in the daylight, and we hope it can be killed before an election involving the welfare of all our people. Last fall sensations which could not be explained at once, lost the State to the Republicans. Now there is to be, or should be, a prompt and satisfying investigation, and if it is not the fault will be not with the Governor and Auditor General, but with men who care more for faction than the State or Nation.

CAPT. BARCLAY was a young school teacher 18 years old when he responded to his country's call. By meritorious service he was advanced through the various regimental positions until he attained the rank of captain. His military record was an honorsble and brilliant one.

THE State Capitol issue will pass away before the tides of November. The invitation of the Governor to his ablest enemies to investigate Oct. 17th, leaves nothing but compliance. Show us the man who thought Pennypacker a fool? Send his picture to the American, but don't make it libellous.

REPUBLICAN EDITORS STANDING LOYALLY BY THEIR PARTY

FOLLOW LEAD OF ROOSEVELT

They Are Giving Consistent and Earnest Support to Edwin S. Stuart and His Colleagues on the Republican Ticket.

A significant feature of the present campaign in Pennsylvania is the enthusiastic and loyal support which is being given to the Republican ticket by the Republican editors of the commonwealth.

Without exception they are heartily and earnestly working for the election of Edwin S. Stuart and all of his colleagues on the Republican ticket, and they are giving magnificent support to the Republican nominees for congress, who are to be sent to Washington to sustain President Roosevelt's administration and to aid him in carrying out the many popular policies which he has recently inaugurated and which he has determined shall be pushed to fulfillment at the earliest possible moment.

Here are some timely expressions from Republican editors of this state upon live issues of the present campaign:

The Candidates Compared.

Who are these Democratic candidates who are asking the Republicans of Pennsylvania to support them? says the editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

There is Lewis Emery, Jr., who prates about honesty and what he would do if he could only get to Harrisburg. Is he the sort of man to be entrusted in public office—a man who has made his money by his peculiar methods of fighting and dealing with Standard Oil.

Is it honest for an oil company to forge the stencil of an inspector and sell dangerous oil for the high priced and non-explosive article, thus cheating, swindling its customers?

Is it honest to accept rebates? Honest to bill over the railroads car loads of white oil as acids and reap the difference between five cents per hundred weight and eight and one-half cents?

Is it honest to fight an oil company for using such methods, while all the time doing the same thing?

Is it honest for an oil company—the Pure Oil—to denounce the Standard while having directors from the Standard on its own board and agreeing upon rates, so that all is harmony.

Are these the methods that the thinking men of Pennsylvania wish to see transferred to the Executive Mansion?

Then there is Jere. S. Black, candidate—Bryan candidate—for Lieutenant Governor. What has this man done to endear himself to the honest voters?

Jere Black's Graft.

York county, from which he comes, was robbed of thousands of dollars by Democratic officials. Mr. Black, Democrat, as a lawyer, was appointed by the commissioners to bring suit and proceed against the County Treasurer. Mr. Black's law firm collected $80,000 and demanded as the fee $18,500—almost one-fourth of the collection.

Legally this may be honest; but morally, was it not anything but that? Is Mr. Black the kind of a man whom you would like to see as the successor of Mr. Emery, should the latter die in office?

There is John J. Green, Bryan candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs. And who is Mr. Green? The product of the worst Democratic machine that ever disgraced a large city—the Donnelly-Ryan Combine of Democratic traders and adventurers. Mr. Green was brought up in the Donnelly-Ryan ranks as a lieutenant ward leader.

Then there is William T. Creasy, who wants to serve the good people of the state as Auditor General. We have nothing to say against him except that he is a Bryan Democrat, and twice stumped the state for Bryan, free trade, free silver and all.

Compare these candidates, if you please, with those of the Republican party—Stuart, Murphy, Houck and Young. They have not made money out of dubious dealings with the Standard; out of forged stencils; out of rebates, while swearing under oath that they took no rebates; out of enormous fees wrung from the people for collecting money stolen from the people by Democratic officials.

There is not a word to be said against them. Their lives have been honest, their records have been clean, and—they are not Bryan Democrats, but Roosevelt Republicans.

There you are. Take your pick. But how any Republican can join with the candidates of the Bryan party to smash a party—the Republican—that has placed on the statute books such a magnificent line of reform laws as to call for the special commendation of President Roosevelt is past our comprehension.

Are Growing Desperate.

The leaders and organs of the fusion candidates in this state and particularly in this district and county, are growing desperate, remarks the editor of the Washington Observer. They see defeat staring them in the face. They see the sentiment growing stronger daily for the Republican ticket and the Republican principles. They are using desperate tactics in a desperate cause. Falsehoods and misrepresentations are following each other in quick succession. Their methods of attack are despicable and have turned many who were formerly in sympathy with them to the support of the Republican ticket. The Republican party and its candidates are conducting a clean, decent campaign. They are making votes. The issues are clearly presented and the people are beginning to see most clearly the motives which characterize the attacks on decent men—because they are Republicans. The refusal of many of the Democrats to swallow the hybrid ticket in the district and in the county is also making the leaders desperate, and like Hearst, of New York, they are beginning to call men of their own party vile names. Keep it up, the better it will be for the Republican party. It makes votes—because it disgusts honest and decent voters.

Must Be Harmony For Results.

We submit that the Republican Governor with a Republican legislature can produce more substantive legislation than a fusion governor with the same legislature, says the editor of the Titusville Herald. Excellence in the administration of state affairs demands harmony, which can exist only through the election of Edwin S. Stuart to the Governor's chair.

There can be shown no reason why a single Republican should desert his party this fall to follow Lewis Emery, Jr., who was never a Republican unless to satisfy his own selfish, self-centered ambitions.

A Manly Statement.

Governor Pennypacker's frank and manly statement in regard to the expenditures for the state capitol is convincing enough in itself to all candid citizens, that not a single dollar has been wasted or misappropriated, says the editor of the Oil City Derrick. But Mr. Stuart, who is in no way connected with the building of the structure, has promised to take the question up and will give it full investigation. In his speech at Greenville he added the following plank to the Republican party platform:

"If elected Governor, I promise you, fully realizing the responsibility resting upon me, that I will see that a thorough investigation shall be made of the entire question, and if such investigation discloses that any man or set of men have been guilty of wrong-doing in the abuse of their trust, or guilty of fraud or illegal profit in the furnishing of supplies, they shall meet with the punishment they surely, under such circumstances, would justly deserve."

This should be fully satisfactory to those who have been disposed to question the action of the building committee in expending such immense sums in furnishing and decorating the capitol. But it is clear that the members did not exceed their powers, and that they were acting in strict accord with the law. Ten years hence, when the fame of this magnificent building becomes more general and the work of these men becomes better recognized, what they did for the people in giving them a capitol, worthy the honor and dignity of the state, will be pointed at as the proudest achievement of their lives.

The Overshadowing Issue.

It will not do for opponents of the Republican state ticket to plead for voters on the theory that the election of next November is important as to this year only, excising the editor of the Brownsville Clipper. This is the direct and immediate question, but 1908 presents the overshadowing issue. No sincere Republican wants a Democrat sent to the White House two years from now. Some Republicans who claim to be sincere say that they will vote this year for Emery, the Democratic nominee, against Stuart, the Republican candidate for Governor, and when they vote for Emery they line up for the whole Democratic state ticket. Yet it is axiomatic that you can't contribute to the election of a Republican President by electing the Democratic tickets in the several states. Politics don't operate that way. Judge Parker, the last Democratic candidate, since the election of 1904, has repeatedly said that the way to put a Democrat in the White House is to carry the smaller political divisions, the township, the ward, the city, the county and then the state.

That is the way to do it, and if the true and loyal Republicans of Pennsylvania want to elect a Republican in 1908 for President, they must not make the mistake this year of fortifying Democratic strength by voting for the Democratic nominee for Governor. To do that is to invite a Democratic triumph and Democratic victory in the nation is sure to spell disaster.

Prominent Mason Dead.

Hornell, N. Y., Oct. 12. — Judge Frank Hurd Robinson, for two terms grand master of the Free and Accepted Masons of the state of New York, died in a sanitarium in this city after an illness of several months. He was 51 years of age.

CAPT. BARCLAY is opposed to corporation influences in politics and stands for clean and honest politics. He will owe allegience to no corporation or moneyed powers when he gets to congress, and will carefully guard the people's interest.

The Fourth D's.

Charles Spurgeon once said that there were three great enemies to man—"dirt, debt and the devil." He might have added one more d and included dyspepsia. The evil results of this disease could hardly be exaggerated. It's effects are felt in mind and body, and are as far reaching as the effects of the curse that was laid on the Jackdaw of Rheims which was cursed in "eating and drinking and sleeping, in standing and sitting and lying." The good effects of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are most marked in aggravated and chronic cases of dyspepsia. It enables the stomach glands to secrete the necessary quantity of digestive fluids, and this at once removes that craving or gnawing sensation so common to certain forms of indigestion. It tones and regulates the stomach, invigorates the torpid liver and gives the blood making glands keen assimilative power. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures ninety eight per cent. of those who use it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are superior to all other laxative medicines when the bowels are obstructed.

CAPT. BARCLAY, a plain man of the people, does not play to the galleries. No promise of a wide-open barrel secured his nomination; no political maneuvering secured his nomination; no political maneuvering secured his hearty endorsement by the Prohibition party, and no braggadocio characterizes his campaign. He is to be judged by his acts as a Republican, and his career as a soldier, business man and private citizen.

Boy Disappears From Home.

George, a young son of our townsman, William Brown, left here on September 22nd with Cumming's Wild West Show and his parents have heard nothing from him since. The boy is only 14 years of age, and the parents are naturally very much concerned about him. He was rather tall for his age, wore striped coat and pants, black satteen shirt, brown soft hat and brown necktie. Any information concerning the whereabouts of the boy will be thankfully received by his parents. Exchanges please copy.

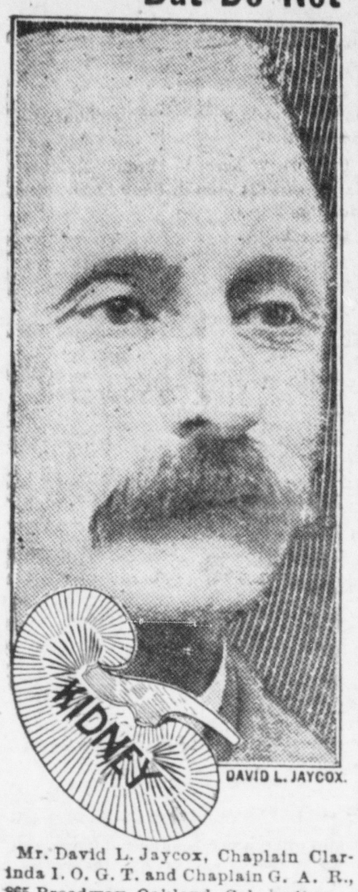
Many Persons Have Catarrh of Kidneys But Do Not Recognize It.



DAVID L. JAYCOX.

A War Veteran Spends Hundreds of Dollars in His Attempt to Cure Kidney Trouble. He Took Pe-ru-na Upon a Friend's Advice and It Proved the Best Medicine He Ever Used.

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease.

It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked.

They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys, it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate.

Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys, it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or diabetes, both of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic catarrh remedy, one that reaches the very source of the catarrh and removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peruna. It reaches catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membranes of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

PE-RU-NA FOR KIDNEY DISEASE.

That Peruna is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials written by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonial given here is only a specimen of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peruna in severe cases of kidney trouble.

For free medical advice, address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. David L. Jaycox, Chaplain Clarinda I. O. G. T. and Chaplain G. A. R., 865 Broadway, Oakland, Cal., writes:

"I am an old war veteran. I contracted severe bladder and kidney trouble.

"I spent hundreds of dollars and consulted a host of doctors, but neither did me any good.

"Finally some of my comrades who had been cured by Peruna advised me to try it.

"I at once bought a bottle and found it helped me so much that I kept using it for nearly four months.

"Peruna has proven the best medicine I ever used. My pains are gone and I believe myself to be cured.

"I feel well and would not be without a bottle in time of need for ten times its cost."

Centre County.

The following townships in Centre County have filled petitions, for State aid in the reconstruction of roads, with the State Highway Department.

Snow Shoe	8000 feet
Rush	2640 "
"	2640 "
"	1175 "
	14 453 " or nearly

three (3) miles of roads.

Bids, covering the construction of the above roads, were received for 20 days prior to August 25th, 1906, and the work finally awarded to the lowest bidders, namely, J. K. Falmer & Co., of Clearfield, Pa. The descriptions of the roads are as follows:—

9,274 feet of road, 16 feet wide, in Snow Shoe township, extending from the railroad crossing at Clarence to the intersection of Sycamore street and Moshannon Avenue, in Snow Shoe. Approximate cost of construction $14,788.04, the State's share being about $11,091.03.

5,237 feet of road, 16 feet wide, in Rush township, extending from the Borough Line of Philipsburg, at Front street and Ninth street, to the Clearfield County Line at Troy Bridge. Approximate cost of construction $4,359.25, the State paying about $8,546 44.

3,085 feet of road, 16 feet wide, in Rush township, extending from the railroad crossing at Sandy Ridge, to a point on the Osceola Road, near the property of George Pfontz. Approximate cost of construction $4,778.93, the State paying about $3,384,20.

The amount of money available for road building purposes in Centre County until June 1st, 1907 is $25,463.74. The amount available from June 1st, 1907, to June 1st, 1908, is about $15,360.02 and the amount available from June 1st 1908, to June 1st, 1909, is $15,360.03, making a total amount of $56,183 78 The total State's share of the cost of the above roads amounts to about $23,221.67, which practically consumes the apportionment to June 1st, 1907. This still leaves the entire apportionments, available June 1st, 1907 and June 1st, 1908, unapplied for and gives some of the other townships in Centre County an opportunity to secure State aid in reconstructing their roads.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

J. D. Baudice Trys to End Life by Laudumn Route.

Quite a sensation was created at the Fair grounds Friday evening by the unsuccessful attempt at suicide made by J. D. Baudice, of Scotia, owner of the Merry go round, which has been in operation at the Fair all week.

Baudice, so his friends say, was in the best of humor all day Friday and there was no suspicion that anything was wrong. In the evening however he drank an ounce of laudanum. He became unconscious soon after and his employees noticing something wrong made an investigation and discovered the empty laudanum bottle. He was taken to the Bellefonte Hospital where the Doctors worked over him all night.

He is reported Saturday as out of danger but declared he will repeat the dose as soon as he gets the opportunity Financial troubles are given as the cause of his rash act.

Death of Miss Amanda Fore.

On Thursday evening at quarter past six o'clock Miss Amanda Fore died at the Bellefonte hospital of typhoid fever, after a brief illness.

The case is a very sad one indeed. Miss Fore and her mother, Mrs. Susan Fore reside at Coleville, and about a week ago they were admitted to the hospital, suffering with typhoid fever. The mother is getting better while the daughter gradually grew worse and passed away at the above stated time.

She was the daughter of Wm. Fore and was aged 17 years, 4 months and 28 days and was a very bright and attractive young lady. The family have the deepest sympathy of the community in their affliction.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the house, interment in the Union cemetery

Saw Mill Accident Results Fatally.

Deputy Prothonotary Isaac Rumberger returned home this morning from Madisonburg, Centre county, where he attended the funeral of Ambrose Douty, a distant relative, which occurred Monday.

Mr. Douty was the owner of a saw mill near Madisonburg, and while engaged in assisting the men in bolting on the lath machine, a piece of board was hurled from the saw with tremendous force, striking Mr. Douty on the head and fracturing his skull. He remained unconscious until Thursday morning when he died.—Lock Haven Democrat

Not so Bad

"Farmer" Creasy is one of the most prosperous farmers in the state. He is one of the leaders in Columbia county and is possessed of a competency of this world's goods His business has been farming and politics. If he made his money farming, the woes and tribulations of the "overtaxed" farmer are not so black as he paints them. If he made his money in politics, there certainly is not much legitimate profit in an office that has connected with it a salary of $1500 every two years.

Certainly no one envies him the success that has crowned his efforts, but then his success contradicts his wailings and lamentations.—Bloomsburg Republican.

Loganton has Slight Fire Which was Caused by Mice

Loganton had a fire on Wednesday night. About 8:30 o'clock flames were seen shooting out of the roof of the Evangelical parsonage occupied by Rev. H. L. Eby and family.

The fire was at one end of the house and some heroic work by the bucket brigade saved the house from total destruction.

The fire started in the ceiling of the first floor, some distance away from the stove pipe and it is supposed that mice carried matches under the second floor and ignited them.

Mrs. Eby is ill of typhoid fever and does not yet know about the fire.

The loss is about $300, covered by insurance in the A. W. McCormick agency.

Wedded in Blanchard.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Johnston in Blanchard Thursday, their daughter, Bertha, was united in marriage to Shuman Williams. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of invited guests, which was performed by Rev. H. J. Dadley, pastor of the Disciple church of Blanchard. After the ceremony elegant refreshments were served. The interior of the house was tastefully decorated. The groom is a bright young man and teacher of a school at Pleasant Gap. The bride is an estimable young lady. The happy couple left Friday on a trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

TRADE IS VERY BRISK

Cold Weather Contributes to Greater Mercantile Activity.

EVERYTHING ON THE MOVE

Wholesalers Report Largest Volume of Trade Ever Transacted and Industries Cannot Make Immediate Delivery.

New York, Oct. 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Lower temperature brought out much business in seasonable lines of wearing apparel, and most reports from wholesalers tell of the largest volume of trade ever transacted. Shipping departments are limited in activity by inadequate railway facilities, and this difficulty is becoming aggravated by the free movement of grain and coal as the season advances. Official crop reports covering conditions on October 1 indicated most satisfactory grain prospects, but damage has since reduced the yield of cotton and caused a violent rise in prices. To this fact is due some irregularity in trade and collections at a few southern cities, but most centers report expanding business and confidence regarding the future. In the leading industries it is impossible to secure prompt deliveries, even contracts for shipment during the first quarter of 1907 being difficult to place with the steel mills, and the long continued lassitude in primary markets for cotton goods has been succeeded by an eagerness to purchase that is advancing quotations.

Conditions in the primary market for cotton goods show a radical change in the recent indifferent demand and endeavor to obtain concessions in prices. Now that the raw material has advanced beyond general expectations and there is prospect of higher prices there is a sudden rush to provide for the future needs., but the producers exhibit as much indifference as was formerly shown by purchasers. Conditions in the woolen industry do not show a similar broadening of interest, few duplicate orders having been placed, and the market still waits for some definite attitude by clothing manufacturers.

Failures this week numbered 217 in the United States, against 214 last year, and 28 in Canada, compared with 25 a year ago. Of failures this week in the United States 90 were in the east, 60 south, 49 west and 18 in the Pacific states, and 68 report liabilities of $5000 or more.

Bradstreet's report of exports for the week are as follows: Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending October 11, aggregated 3,257,886 bushels, against 4,917,021 last week, 2,774,462 this week last year, 1,357,175 in 1904 and 5,536,073 in 1901.

For the past 15 weeks of the fiscal year the exports are 48,052,927 bushels, against 19,873,837 in 1905; 19,905,888 in 1904 and 90,578,825 in 1901.

Corn exports for the week are 1,202,430 bushels, against 846,099 last week, 962,474 a year ago and 857,517 in 1904. For the fiscal year to date the exports are 10,502,811 bushels, against 16,492,891 in 1905 and 9,047,859 in 1904.

MOONSHINER PLEADS GUILTY

Gooch Fined $1000 and His Illicit Distillery Confiscated.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 13.—Wayne R. Gooch, known to the revenue officials as "King of the Moonshiners," pleaded guilty in the United States circuit court to indictments charging him with conspiracy to defraud the government. Judge Waddill fined him $1000 and confiscated the distillery. Gooch is said to have accumulated a fortune of $200,000 by the manufacture and sale of illicit whiskey. He owns thousands of acres of land in Mecklenburg county, and maintained an armed guard around his place. For 12 months the revenue men hovered about the outskirts of the Gooch place before they secured evidence. Gooch kept inquisitive neighbors off by riding around the outskirts of the estate every night heavily armed and firing his rifle in the air. The distillery seized had a capacity of 600 gallons.

New York, Oct. 13.—St. Clair Timberlake, 44 years old, was arrested by the police, charged with having stabbed to death William Wilson, 31 years old, a waiter, on the Bowery last Sunday night. Wilson's wife and James Coyne are being held as witnesses in the case.

Thirteen Negro Convicts Escape.

Wife Dead; Husband Arrested.

Willimantic, Conn., Oct. 13.—Majoba Berberie, the Assyrian peddler, whose wife was found dead in bed at her home here, with her mouth badly burned by a poison which the authorities say is carbolic acid, was captured at the house of Nathan Mains, at Quarryville, by Captain Richmond, of the local police force, who had been out looking for him in an automobile. He was brought back here and locked up. When arrested Berberie claimed he did not know that his wife was dead and told the police that he had supplied Michael Carey, whom he said took out for her.

AN UNSEASONABLE BLIZZARD

Crops of Vast Area Damaged By the Cold Snap.

Washington, Oct. 12.—A large section of the country was in the clutches of one of the earliest blizzards on record. Over a vast area of Western Pennsylvania heavy snow has fallen, damaging late crops and interfering with railroad and trolley traffic. Records for October low temperatures and snow have been smashed. At Cleveland the snowfall has been accompanied by intense cold, one man having been frozen to death.

From Canada the storm took a southern course down the Mississippi valley, leaving a white mantle of snow in its path. The fruit crop of the middle west was damaged by freezing temperatures and the tobacco crop of Virginia and Kentucky felt the blighting of the sudden change in the temperature.

The cold wave extended to the cotton belt of Middle Texas, where haste is being made to harvest the crop and save it from ruin. Light to killing frost is reported from the cotton belt of Alabama, and in Tennessee and Northern Mississippi crops were nipped by the frost. Down along the Blue Ridge mountains in Virginia was the coldest part of the country, and at Mount Weather, the government observing station, in the mountains, 60 miles southwest from here, the mercury was down to freezing, while four below zero was scored at Elkins, W. Va.

Killing Frost In Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12.—A killing frost, accompanied by freezing temperature, occurred in Atlanta and throughout Northern Georgia Wednesday night. President Harvie Jordan, of the Southern Cotton Association, estimates that between 40,000 and 50,000 bales of cotton were killed in Georgia alone.

Snow at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 12. — Snow fell here for many hours. It was light and wet and melted almost as fast as it reached the ground. On the nearby mountains the fall is about an inch in depth.

CLOSE RACE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Chicago Nationals Defeat Americans and Lead Have Two Games Won.

Chicago, Oct. 13—The world's championship base ball series is again even, the local National League team defeating the American Leaguers, 1 to 0. Each team has now won two games. Curiously enough, both National victories have been on the American grounds, while the White Stockings have earned success on their rivals' field.

Altrock, for the Americans, and Brown, for the Nationals, the pitchers who opposed each other in the opening game, which was won by Altrock's team, again contested for supremacy. Brown was at his best. He showed nerve, speed, control and intelligence. He gave only two passes and allowed only two hits. He held the Americans hitless until the sixth inning, when, with two men out, Hahn his cleanly to centre. The score by innings:

CHEAPER GAS FOR JERSEYITES

Price to Drop Five Cents a Year Until It's $1 a Thousand.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 13.—The Public Service Corporation of New Jersey announced that it would reduce the price of gas to consumers in 13 South Jersey towns, the first reduction to take place on January 1 next, when a drop of five cents a thousand feet will take place, to be followed by a further reduction of five cents each year until 1911, when the price will have been reduced to $1 a thousand feet.

The towns affected are Woodbury, Merchantville, Haddonfield, Gloucester City, Collingswood, Westmont, Audubon, Oaklyn, Orston, Mount Holly, Moorestown, Westville and Newbold.

The price of gas in these towns is now $1.25 a thousand feet. In Camden the price is but $1. By the gradual reduction the price to smaller towns will eventually be what it is now in Camden. Next year it will be $1.20 a thousand feet.

Simplified Spelling For Jersey.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 13.—Charles J. Baxter, state superintendent of public instruction, sent letters to all school superintendents and teachers explaining the attitude of the state board of education towards the simplified method of spelling. He favors a gradual and rational simplification of English spelling, but declares the reforms can safely be left in the hands of the well-established agencies that have in the past ably directed orthographic intelligence and taste. The superintendent believes the schools should not be the first in a radical movement for spelling reform, but should continue to be guided by standard dictionaries.

School Teachers Want Pensions.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 13.—A meeting of 100 Pennsylvania educators was held in Harrisburg for the purpose of formulating plans for the passage by the next legislature of a bill to pension teachers of the public schools in Pennsylvania outside of Philadelphia who have taught a prescribed number of years. A committee was appointed to draft a bill to be submitted to the teachers throughout the state by October 19. After the bill has been prepared and approved by the leaders a campaign committee will be appointed to take charge of the movement.

DR. BROUWER'S DEFENSE

COUNSEL OUTLINES DEFENSE

Miss Stella McClenahan Tells of Her Position In the Doctor's Household. Embalming Fluid Contained No Arsenic.

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 13. — The prosecution rested its case against Dr. Frank Brouwer, charged with having poisoned his wife, and the defense began the presentation of testimony on behalf of the accused physician. The state endeavored to establish that Mrs. Brouwer came to her death from the effects of arsenic administered by her husband, while the line of defense mapped out by counsel for Dr. Brouwer in their opening remarks will be that the woman died from ptomaine poison in food she had eaten.

Isaac J. Carmichael, in his opening speech to the jury, said in part:

"We will show you that Mrs. Brouwer died of ptomaine poisoning, a malady which very often results from such food as she had before she fell ill. On that Wednesday evening she ate canned soup, meats, watermelon and canned vegetables. She drank that night several bottles of beer.

"It is our contention that with that food there entered Mrs. Brouwer's stomach the microbes or bacilli that produce ptomaine poisoning. Those attacks of nausea, those convulsions, those terrible pains in her stomach, were the symptoms of the disease of which hundreds and thousands of persons die every year.

"We will prove to you that this defendant, who is basely and groundlessly accused of murdering his wife, gave her the treatment which medical science prescribes for thaht disease. We shall convince you that this man has been meligned beyond any power of man to repair the injury done to him."

Mr. Carmichael declared that it would be proved that the particles of glass and the arsenic found in Mrs. Brouwer's body came there after her death. He said that the defense would show conclusively that the sick woman exhibited at no time symptoms of strychnine poisoning.

Miss Stella McClenahan was called as the first witness for the defense. She said that she had known Dr. Brouwer for three years. He had treated her during an illness before his wife's death. About a month after Mrs. Brouwer's death the doctor had asked her to come to his home and take care of his children. She consented, and remained in his home for six weeks. During that time, she said, she never went out walking or driving with Dr. Brouwer. On cross-examination, Miss McClenahan said that Dr. Brouwer did not continue to visit her after she had recovered from the illness for which he treated her.

Edward J. Westhall, an undertaker, said he used a fluid containing no arsenic for embalming the body of Mrs. Brouwer. The apparatus was the same he had used in other cases and with other fluids. The defense sought to show that the embalming apparatus which the witness had used in previous cases might have contained some portion of arsenic fluid at the time Mrs. Brouwer's body was embalmed, but the prosecution objected to this line of testimony.

Dr. John Marshall, professor of chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania, testifying as an expert for the defense, said he had analyzed an embalming fluid which, he had been informed, was similar to that used in embalming Mrs. Brouwer's body, and found no arsenic in it. He also tested two other kinds of embalming fluid used by the undertaker, and found them composed largely of arsenic. He said a deposit of arsenic usually adhered to the instrument after using an arsenical injection.

Held For Manslaughter.

San Francisco, Oct. 13.—Ernest Deneke, son of a millionaire banker, who shot an unknown Italian on the water front during the San Francisco fire on April 19, was held for trial for manslaughter by Superior Judge W. P. Lawler, who branded the act as wanton, reckless and the result of bad judgment. Deneke was freed by Judge Shortoll in the police court at the end of the first preliminary examination, but he was rearrested and examined before Superior Judge Lawler, sitting as a committing magistrate.

Not Ordered Back to Work.

Washington, Oct. 13. — President James O'Connell, of the International Association of Machinists, said with regard to the dispute between the Southern Railroad company and its machinists who went out on strike, that he had not ordered the men back to work pending a settlement of the case. He said that a certain proposition had been submitted to the men to be voted on, and that upon this vote would depend whether or not the men would go back.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 13.—Sliding Scale Commissioner Charles P. Neill announces that the price of white ash coal of sizes above pea coal sold at Perth Amboy and Edgewater for the month of September last was $2.78 per ton f. o. b. CUBAN REBELS WORRIED

Want to Know Policy of U. S. Concerning Appointments to Office.

Havana, Oct. 13.—The United States through its peace commissioners is not ready to announce when it will withdraw from the island of Cuba and surrender the reins of government to the Cubans, but this action cannot be taken until the time arrives when fair elections are assured. This statement was made by Governor Taft as a sort of valedictory address to the revolutionists' committee with which the American commissioners dealt in inducing the rebels to cease hostilities and negotiate peace.

Headed by Alfredo Zayas, the committee visited Governor Taft for the avowed purpose of requesting him to declare the policy of the United States toward Cuba and the policy of the provisional governor concerning appointments to public offices. The Americans listened carefully to all the representations of the committee, and then Governor Taft replied pointedly that he could not outline the policy of the United States more clearly than was done in his proclamation establishing a provisional government for the island.

Governor Taft would not predict when such a satisfactory condition would be reached, but he said the Cubans themselves could hasten that time if they were disposed to do so. A fair and honest election, on the results of which the Cuban people were willing to abide, Secretary Taft declared, was necessary before the United States would feel justified in withdrawing from the island.

Huston, of Philadelphia, architect of the building, who was invited to meet this committee, also declined to be present. The governor said that their declinations ended the proposition and that he did not know what would be done in this matter in the future.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

There Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong And Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

W. R. Camp, of the firm of Kirk-Camp Furniture Co., Logan Ave. and 14th St., Tyrone, Pa., says: "Experience has taught me that Doan's Kidney Pills is an excellent remedy and one that strictly fulfills its promises. In the fall of 1897 I gave for publication in our local papers a statement covering my experience with this remedy and recommending it to others, and now in the month of June, 1904, I just as enthusiastically recommend it as I did at that time. Doan's kidney pills completely relieved me of an aching in the small of my back and lameness through the loins due to kidney trouble. We always keep this preparation in the house for use in case of need, and it has never failed to give splendid satisfaction. I heartily endorse it.

BAN ON BORATED MEAT

Label of United States Inspection Not Placed on It.

Washington, Oct. 12. — Oliver D. Schick, deputy dairy and food commissioner of Pennsylvania, and N. B. Critchfield, secretary of agriculture of Pennsylvania, had a conference with Secretary Wilson respecting the action taken by the Pennsylvania authorities against Armour & Company for offering for sale in Philladelphia meats containing boric acid

It is understood that warrants were issued in Philadelphia for the arrest of some of Armour & Company's agents, because they had offered for sale meats preserved with borax. Secretary Wilson informed his callers that under the inspection regulations no borated meat could enter into interstate commerce after October 1st, and no meat products in which boric acid or borax had been used as a preservative could bear the approved label of the United States inspection service. He said, however, that there was no national law which would prevent the sale of borated meats in Philadelphia or anywhere else in the country, provided always that the meat had not been shippeo into that place from another state after October 1st. With meats treated with borax discovered in Philadelphia prior to October 1st, Secretary Wilson said the government had nothing to do, as, until October 1st it was not in violation of national regulations to use borax as a preservative.

ON TRACK OF SILVEIRA

Authorities Know Destination of $1,000,000 Embezzler.

New York, Oct. 12.—Cablegrams to all ports of the world were sent out asking the authorities to keep watch for Manuel Silveira, the Havana banker, who is accused of having absconded with more than $1,000,000 thereby causing the assignment in this city of the banking and commission house of Juan M. Ceballos & Co. which failed on Wednesday last, with liabilities of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

It was announced here that Silveira is not on board the steamer Carmelina in which he and his family sailed from Havana. A CLUMSY FORGERY

So-Called Schooley Will and Codicil Denounced in Court.

FIGHT FOR CRAWFORD MILLIONS

Handwriting Expert Created a Sensation In Will Contest at Scranton When He Said Signature On Codicil Looks Like Schooley's.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 12.—Declaring that the hand that signed J. L. Crawford's checks and letters never signed the alleged will and codicil held by George S. Schooley, of Philadelphia, Handwriting Expert Kingsley, of New York city, created a sensation at the will contest hearing before Judge Sando. He was as positive in his statements that the signature on the will or codicil had been stamped or drawn in and then inked over.

Under the magnifying glass he showed the brown outline of the first signature and the irregular attempts made to cover this with ink. He created another sensation when he said that in his opinion the written date on the codicil looked more like the handwriting of Schooley, on letters sent Mr. Crawford, than it did like Mr. Crawford's handwriting. The attorney for Schooley made a desperate attempt to spoil the effect of this testimony by questions tending to show that a fountain pen not flowing properly might cause the same spattering as seen in the alleged will signature, but failed to so convince Kinsley. The expert stated that the most remarkable thing about the will and codicil signatures was the fact that they were in every line identical, claiming that it was beyond the realms of possibility for a person to write their signature twice the same. He also said that experiments had convinced him that the person who tore up the codicil did it with the paper open before him, as the peculiar tear in the signature could not have been caused any other way. Mr. Schooley alleges that he tore up the codicil, by mistake, when it was folded so that he could not see the writing.

J. B. Russell, of J. B. Russell & Co., New York bankers, was placed on the stand and told of the attempts made by Schooley in 1905 to find out from him how much stock in the Chicago Subway Mr. Crawford held. A letter was read, sent by Schooley to the Scott Fertilizing company, by whom he was employed, announcing the death of Mr. Crawford and stating that he did not know what effect it would have upon the notes for $11,000 that Crawford had of his. According to his own testimony he knew at that time that the will he held gave him those same notes and a million dollars besides.

Part of Town Burned.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 12.—More than 50 buildings were destroyed by a fire which ruined one-fourth of the town of Summerside, the capital of Prince county. The total loss is estimated at $200,000, with insurance of only about $50,000. A path 300 feet in width and nearly a mile long was burned through the town, the buildings destroyed including the court house, jail, electric light station, post office, four hotels and two churches besides the railway station and many dwellings. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin. It started in the railroad station.

Men Vote to Strike Unless Conductor Is Reinstated.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 12.—By a referendum vote employes of the Pittsburg Railways company have decided to strike unless the company agrees to their demand for the reinstatement of Conductor M. J. Murray. No question of wages or hours is involved. A strike such as the union could inaugurate would tie up the entire street car system of the city.

The men claim that Murray, who is a member of the executive board of the local division of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America, was discharged because he was absent from duty for 20 days on account of sickness. His physician's certificate shows that he was incapacitated for work, but not confined to bed.

The girls were returning from school, when the child's foot became caught. Dagno Senstad unable to release her friend, ran to meet the train, waving her arms and screaming, but the engineer did not see her.

Three Children Burned to Death.

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 12.—A special to the State from Fort Mill says: Three negro children were burned to death in a fire which consumed a house on J. M. Pratt's plantation, near town. Escaped From Detectives.

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 13—Rev. James Royal Slayton, who had been in charge of the Salvation Army here for several months past, was recently appointed pastor of the Evangelical church at Meyersdale, south of this city. Through notices in the Washington papers concerning his marriage to a Johnstown girl the navy department learned of his whereabouts and sent a special officer to Meyersdale on Wednesday to arrest him. Slayton agreed to go quietly, and the two boarded a train for this city. At Stoney Creek, a station on the Baltimore & Ohio, in the suburbs of this city, Slayton asked leave to go to the lavatory. He did not return, and the officer on investigating found that he had escaped through a window. He was in the city over Wednesday night with friends, it is stated. A Miss Hawkins joined the branch. Slayton took her to Washington and there married her.

BRIDGE DYNAMITED

Strikers Supposed to Have Exploded 100 Pounds on It.

Pittsburg, Oct. 13.—With a terrific crash 100 pounds of dynamite were exploded on the Wabash bridge being erected by the American Bridge company near Clairton. The explosion was supposedly engineered by strikers. No lives were lost because the wreckers bound the two watchmen and carried them to a safe distance before the work was begun. An examination afterwards showed the bridge itself to be not materially damaged, but the big traveling derrick used on the structure is a complete wreck. Warrants are out for two strikers who are suspected of being ringleaders in the plot.

A New Industry

On Saturday articles of agreement was signed forming a copartnership between L. C. Bullock, of the Bullock Swing and Manufacturing company, and Harry Yeager, E. F. Davis and Thomas J. Sexton, trading as Yeager & Davis, under the new firm name of The Bellefonte Manufacturing company.

The new firm will occupy the plant now used by Mr. Bullock, the old chair works between Bellefonte and Milesburg, and will manufacture swings—including the swing heretofore made by Yeager & Davis and the Bullock combination swing—ironing boards and tables combined, and various other novelties. Mr. Bullock has five patented articles, all of which will be manufactured at the new plant, as well as carrying on the wagon making and repairing business he is now engaged in.

So far as Yeager & Davis are concerned they will not immediately give up their factory in the old Phoenix mill but will there continue the manufacture of the small wooden novelties they have been making for the past year.

That the new company will eventually prove an important one and their plant a good industry for this community, is the wish of all, and there is no reason why it should not. There is not a better location for manufacturing plant than just where they will be located. Within easy access of two railroads, with almost an unlimited water power and with ample room to enlarge to any reasonable capacity, they have every facility to expand into quite a large industry.

Thinks Salerno is Shamming

Sheriff J. Harris Mussina of Lock Haven was a Williamsport visitor Thursday. He tells of a visit he had a day or two ago to the penitentiary where at Philadelphia. He saw James Salerno, the Lycoming county murderer, and the action of the prisoner was such as to make it appear that he has been shamming in trying to create the impression that he is deaf and dumb. The sheriff entered and Salerno approached him to shake hands. To the question whether he knew the visitor, the prisoner shook his head negatively, indicating that he understood what was said, even if he was unable to answer verbally. The warden was surprised when he saw what Salerno did, for he stated that the murderer has been acting for a long time as if he neither understood anything or could utter speech. Sheriff Mussina says the Italian seems to be in excellent physical condition.—Williamsport Sun.

Says Hair Grows Best Cut Friday Before Full Moon.

A number of men of the western section of Chester are following advice they believe will prove a boon to the bald headed.

Augustus Weber, one of the oldest residents of that section, prides himself upon a luxuriant growth of hair, and declaring that he did not feel justified in permitting the secret to die with him, he has explained how he retains his Samsonian locks.

"For a number of years," said Mr. Weber. "I have been getting my hair cut on or about the first Friday of the full moon. I started to do this when I saw that my hair was gradually getting thinner, and was gratified to see that it not only stopped falling out, but that a new growth began to appear upon the bald spots.

"The secret was given me by an old man who manufactured medicines from herbs, and in order to get the information I had to promise him not to reveal the secret until after an elapse of two decades. Why he exacted this promise I do not know."

One young man who is trying Mr. Weber's plan declares that he can notice his locks getting thicker. Others say they have no faith in the cure, but are trying it just for the novelty of the thing.

Men are Queer

Wouldn't there be a roar when they came home to their meals if they had to climb up on a high stool in front of the table on which there was no cloth and eat their meals in that fashion? Yet a majority of men when they go to a restaurant to eat will pick out the high stool and the feed board with no cloth on it in preference to a comfortable chair and a cloth-covered table. A man will borrow a chew of tobacco and most of them will set their teeth into the plug right over where some other man has gnawed out a chew. Offer him a piece of pie at home from which his wife or one of the children had taken a bite and he would holler his head off. At home he will not drink out of a glass or cup from which someone of the family has been drinking. Call him into the back of the stall of a livery barn, pull out a bottle and he will stick the neck of the bottle half way down his throat in order to get a swig after a half dozen other fellows have had the neck of the bottle in their mouths.—Ex.

—A newspaper is in no sense a child of charity. It earns twice over every dollar it receives, and it is second to no enterprise in contributing to the upbuilding of a community. Its patrons reap far more benefits from its pages than its publishers, and in calling for the support of the community, its patrons reap far more benefits from its pages than its publishers, and in calling for the support of the community in which it is published, it asks for no more than in all fairness belongs to it, though generally it receives less. A SAD ACCIDENT.

James Gallagher of Howard Killed by Bellefonte Central Train.

Friday evening about 8 o'clock a very sad accident occurred at the Pennsylvania station which resulted in the death of a young man named James Gallagher, of Howard, Pa. The unfortunate man had been attending the Centre County Fair and it was his intention to take the 8:16 train for Howard. It was about 8 o'clock when the Bellefonte Central train from State College pulled into the station. After unloading their passengers they backed up onto the trestle over Spring Creek to get out of the way of the 8:16. It is supposed that Gallagher thought the Bellefonte Central was the train he wanted to take and in attempting to get on board he slipped and was thrown under the car wheels, the engine and two cars passing over his prostrate body. There was no one saw the accident happen so it is merely supposition as to how it occurred. The Bellefonte Central train crew felt the jar when the cars passed over the body of Gallagher and going back along the track found the mangled body lying between the station platform curb and the rails, just a short distance south of the baggage room.

He was at once taken to the Bellefonte Hospital but an examination showed that he was beyond human aid. His right leg was crushed to the thigh, his left toes crushed and there was an abrasion on the head The doctors made no attempt to operate on him knowing it was useless and he died at 1:10 this morning having never regained consciousness.

The remains were taken in charge of Saturday by Undertaker W. H. Neff of Howard and conveyed to his home at that place.

James Gallagher was 22 years of age and was employed in the handle factory at Howard. He was the son of Frank Gallagher, who was killed by a train at this place about fifteen years ago while in the employ of A. G. Morris He attempted to cross a trestle with a bucket of water for the men when he was run down by a fast train and killed.

The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. McCummings, of this place, his sister, Mrs. Karl McKinley and a brother John Gallagher, of Howard.

Arrested for Robbing Blair's Jewelry Store.

Robert Hendershot, a young man 22 years of age, was arrested Friday afternoon, charged with breaking into and robbing Frank P. Blair's jewelry store. The arrest was made by Officer William Beezer and the clue which led to the arrest was a simple one. It seems that the theif lost a button from his coat while in the act of robbing the store. Hendershot it seems was under suspicion and Officer Beezer noticed him at the Fair wearing a coat the buttons of which matched the button found in Blair's store. There was also a button missing from Hendershot's coat.

Hendershot was charged with the crime and it is alleged made a partial confession.

The stolen goods will probably be recovered today as Hendershot has told the police where to find the goods.

This is not Hendershot's first offense, as he served a year in the Bloomsburg jail for stealing a watch.

ROYAL Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.

No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders—and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

MANY MEN THROWN OUT OF WORK.

W. H. Wynn & Co's Fire Brick Plant at Blue Ball Goes Up in Smoke.

Blue Ball, a thriving little village four miles northwest of Philipsburg suffered a calamity Saturday morning in the loss by fire of its chief industry, the well known fire brick works owned and operated by W. H. Wynn & Co.

The fire broke out at 2 o'clock in the boiler room, and in a little while the flames communicated to the main building or manufacturing department, which was soon a sheet of flames and in less than an hour only a smouldering heap of ashes. The destruction of this building, with the boiler and engine room and the building in which their small locomotive was housed, together with machinery, etc., will incur a loss of probably $20,000, with only a partial insurance. Fortunately, the kilns, carpenter shop and office are still intact. The main building destroyed was of frame, 240x70, with two additions, one 40x40 and the other 40x48. The dry floor, of flag stone, was also destroyed by the intense heat.

The plant was built seven years ago, and employed 135 hands. It was running at its full capacity, the firm having all the orders they could handle.

In an interview with one of the proprietors, D. Ross Wynn, of Philipsburg he informed the Daily Journal of that place, that the firm would rebuild just as quickly as possible, and that the new structure will likely be of brick and steel, making it fire proof.

A Call To Prayer

The World's Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union wil be held in Boston, Mass., October 17-23 1906, and the National Convention at Hartford, Conn., October 26 31, 1906.

To plan the work for a World's and National organization, requires a wisdom which only God can give—hence it is most fitting that our unions everywhere unite in prayer, asking a rich blessing upon our organization; the officers and leaders in every department; the children and youth; and the local workers. Also prayer for the wild, caused by the liquor traffic and other evils; for Russia, and San Francisco in her brave struggle; for the Church of Christ; for peace and arbitration; for employers and employed; and for a world wave of righteousness, which shall overthrow impurity, political treachery, graft, greed for gold, and the omnipresent liquor traffic. The Evangelistic Department would therefore appoint Wednesday October 17th, 1906, as a day of consecration and prayer.

Elizabeth W. Greenwood, World's and National Evangelistic Superintendent.

Cornering Market in Eels Fisherman's Aim.

John Pennington of Lewistown, has undertaken a corner in the eel market.

During the summer he paid his license and placed one of the modern eel baskets in the Juniata river 1,000 yards east of the Lewistown dam; 2,500 fresh water eels, weighing from one-half to five pounds each, were taked from this basket in one night. These have been placed in "live boxes" and will be kept until winter.

They are sold in the markets cleaned at 12 to 15 cents per pound. As they are much cheaper than meat they find a ready market.

It is estimated that more than three tons of eels, a wriggling, writhing, slimy mass, are now in the live boxes at the Pennington camp. The laws, it is said, have been fully observed, and the fish wardens are patrolling the river to see that no scale fish are taken in this manner. The heavy catch is due to the eels migrating east to deeper water for the winter months.

$2 Photogravures of the Candidates

Two handsome portraits, genuine photogravures, such as sell in art stores at $2 each, the subjects being Edwin S. Stuart and Lewis Emery, Jr., candidates for the Governorship of Pennsylvania, will be issued as art supplements to the Sunday North American for October 21 and October 28.

The Stuart picture will be issued on October 21 and that of Mr. Emery on the following Sunday.

The editor of this paper has received advance copies of the two portraits, and pronounces them works of art of the highest class. Nothing so good has ever been issued as a special supplement.

As the editions of the Sunday North American for these two dates will be limited and the demand unusually large, it will be necessary to order the paper in advance to insure delivery.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The gymn classes started last week with a few of the Old Faithful. We certainly have the right to see more fellows in our evening classes in the gym and we cannot see why more men don't avail themselves of the privileges.

Come out and try it, and if it isn't the best tonic you ever had for that tired feeling. All senior members who wish to try for the basket ball team must be around on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for practice. We want a good team in the field this winter.

People need not be surprised if they see the fellows running around the streets evenings in their gym suits, it only means they are looking for good health and training for a cross county run to take place soon.
